

a) OAuth flow - Asendify Uploader

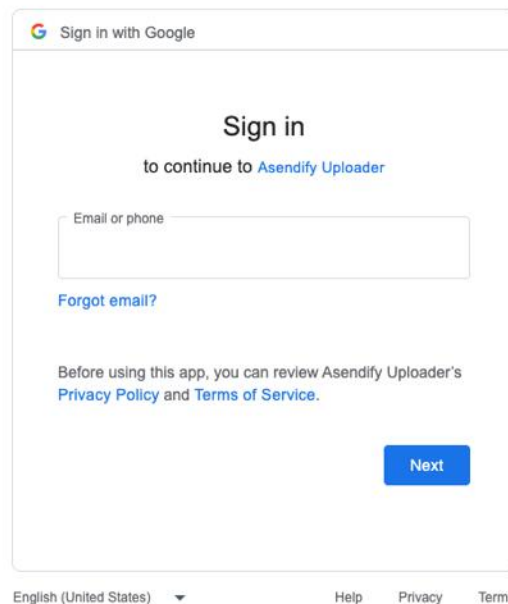

Step 1: the tool opens Google's OAuth sign-in for the 'Asendify Uploader' client (below).

Only Google accounts owned by Asendify sign in. We pick our own brand channel and grant:

- <https://www.googleapis.com/auth/youtube.upload>
- <https://www.googleapis.com/auth/youtube.readonly>
- <https://www.googleapis.com/auth/youtube.force-ssl> (comments on our own videos, branding)
- <https://www.googleapis.com/auth/yt-analytics.readonly>

The tool checks the authorised channel ID matches the expected channel before saving a token.

Revocation: <https://myaccount.google.com/permissions> (also stated in our privacy policy).

The screenshot shows a Google sign-in interface. At the top, it says "Sign in with Google". Below that, the heading "Sign in" is centered, followed by the text "to continue to Asendify Uploader". There is a text input field labeled "Email or phone". Below the input field is a link that says "Forgot email?". Further down, a message states: "Before using this app, you can review Asendify Uploader's Privacy Policy and Terms of Service." At the bottom right of the main content area is a blue button labeled "Next". At the very bottom of the page, there is a footer with "English (United States)" and a dropdown arrow, followed by links for "Help", "Privacy", and "Terms".

b) Upload interface - command-line tool output

The uploader has no web interface. It runs nightly on our own computer:

`python3 yt_upload.py upload` (uploads finished videos: title, description, tags, thumbnail)

`python3 yt_upload.py report` (daily view report for our own channels)

Excerpts from the real upload log (upload.log), in order. '...' marks skipped lines.

The 'daily cap of 6 uploads' lines show the default quota stopping the day's uploads.
